

My Coupon Lady

Where savings happen

About My Coupon Lady

I started MyCouponLady in 2009 as I learned to save money and realized that I wanted to help others learn to save money as well. My name is Lessie and I am a stay-at-home Mom and “domestic engineer” with two beautiful daughters and a passion for saving money and helping others do the same! Sharing everything from free deals to coupons to discounts, there are so many ways to save money in every aspect of your life and my goal is to share this blessing with as many people as possible. But saving money isn’t just about couponing; it is also about making wise purchases and living frugally. This is where I strive to help my readers.
